

RENATE LYDIA FORSYTH

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Born in Germany, moved to London and studied at Wimbledon School of Art and at University College of London, Slade School under Professor Coldstream, Claude Rogers and Anthony Gross amongst others.

Four children all grown with their own families, three of whom are professionals in the field of art and design.

OBJECTIVE

FUNCTIONAL SUMMARY

I qualified as a teacher in 1964, securing a teaching post with the Inner London Educational Authority, teaching at various institutions until 1969 when I moved to Cornwall.

In the 1970s I taught at St Petros Prep School and Bude Grammar School.

During the 1980s I was a full-time self-employed artist. I began part-time Adult Continuing Education with the WEA throughout this decade, and indeed continue to do so to the present day.

I also teach students privately, and have been identified by the local Social Services Department as a tutor of the mentally handicapped and dysfunctional clients.
